ANGLO-FRENCH FORCES ARE MAKING THEIR STRENGTH FELT ON ISTIP FRONT.

MORE SLAV VICTORIES

Hindenburg Despairing of Capturing Riga or Dvinsk is Preparing to Go Into Winter Quarters.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Nov. 4.—While the Serbians are fighting doggedly to keep the way open for their retreat into Montenegro, their Franco-British allies are beginning to make their presence felt in Macedonia, where according to unofficial reports they have gained a success on the Rila front.

The Serbian army is retreating steadily toward its central defense, but its fighting quality apparently has not been seriously impaired by the tremendous battering it has received by the invaders. The only Serbians admitted by Berlin is one along the Nishava river, where the Bulgarians have been thrown back to the Balkans by "superior forces," but the invaders now are only twelve and a half miles from the temporary Serbian capital and a check along the Nishava is not likely to give the harassed defenders much respite.

Russians Active

From Bucharest comes a report that the Russians are concentrating great forces at Port of Rani, in Bessarabia, from which place they are expected to make a direct landing on Bulgarian territory. If the report is true, it is an interpretation of the internationalization of the River Danube friendly to Russia by which men and munitions may be conveyed by the river into Bulgaria.

Along the western front Russia continues to claim a series of successful attacks on the Austro-German positions. From the most northerly point, the eastern battle line comes a report, which has been taken from the German commander, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, despairing of the capture of Riga and Dvinsk, is preparing to retreat to the eastward, near his present position along that front.

Germans Report Victories.

Prince Von Buelow Makes Statement to Associated Press Upon His Arrival in Switzerland.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lucerne, Switzerland, via Paris, Nov. 4.—Prince Von Buelow, former German chancellor, informed the Associated Press today that he had not come to Switzerland on a peace mission. He declared Germany was resolved to continue the war to its conclusion, by arms.

The prince made it clear that he is not going to Washington to see President Wilson, nor Madrid to see King Alfonso in relation to terms on which Germany will be willing to discuss peace, nor is he engaged in discussion with a papal delegate or anyone else.

In addition to disposing of these reports, Prince Von Buelow said to the correspondent today:

"The war must be fought out."

"At another time during the conversation," he said, "Germany is united and possesses every resource in material and above all in unity, and resolved to continue the war to its conclusion by arms."

The prince talked of various aspects of the war with considerable freedom, although explaining that his views on the point must not be made public. "I am here as a private person," he explained, "and will not talk politics. The only allusion on his part to American affairs was the expression of his regret at the death of Herman Ridder of New York."

KING PETER TO URGE ON HIS SOLDIERS

VENERABLE MONARCH LEAVES FOR FRONT FOR A SECOND TIME TO ENCOURAGE HIS MEN.

BRINGS GOOD TIDINGS

Will Spread News of Timely Arrival of French and British Troops Which May Rescue Nation From Ruin.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Amsterdam, Nov. 4.—An official Bulgarian statement received today from Sofia says King Peter of Serbia has come to the front to encourage his soldiers and take to them the news that the French and British soldiers are hastening to their assistance.

King Peter, one of the most picturesque figures of the war, has again gone to the front as he did last year in the hour of his country's supreme need. The venerable ruler—his seventy-one years old—has been through the cradle of the Karageorgievitch dynasty, ill and weak, and according to last accounts was waiting to retire with the rear guard of his troops menaced on three sides by invading armies.

On the former occasion, King Peter was credited with having saved the day for Serbia. Late last year when his army was being hard pressed by the Austrians, the king, suffering from rheumatism contracted in the Franco-Russian war, went to the front and mounting a horse rode slowly through the Serbian lines, telling his soldiers their old king had come to die with them. This action inspired the troops, who expelled the Austrians from Serbia.

"I am but a feeble old man," the King was quoted as having said last month, "but I swear to you if a new invasion shall bring me to the front, I shall be there. I shall not survive the ruin, but I, too, shall die with the country."

ARREST WM. CLEARY ON LARCENY CHARGE

Former Clerk, Who Was Tried for Murder of Son-in-Law, Finally Captured by Secret Service Men.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Nov. 4.—William V. Cleary, former town clerk of Haverstraw, N. Y., acquitted last January of the murder of his son-in-law, Eugene Neuman, after a sensational trial, was arrested here today on a warrant charging larceny of $10,000 from the town of Haverstraw.

Cleary has been missing from Haverstraw since an investigation into which the municipal trial was conducted, disclosing alleged irregularities in his office. Cleary's arrest was the culmination of a chase which began last March and took his pursuers to Bermuda, Cuba, California, and many cities in the United States.

Three months ago he returned to New York City from the far west for a few days and before his movement could be traced disappeared again. He spent several days in Hoboken, but eluded detectives there and was finally located there last night. He had been to the race track and when he met his wife and friends at the railroad station last night, he was chased to an apartment where Cleary had lived for two months. The police watched the house all night and when the police arrived, he and his wife went to the station to leave town, he was arrested.

CUTS OFF HER HAIR DURING NIGHTMARE

Most Beautiful Girl in Sheboygan High School Has Locks Shorn During Her Sleep.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 4.—Miss Gertrude Grasse, fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Grasse, and one of the most beautiful as well as most popular girls in the freshman class of the Sheboygan high school, has had her long hair cut off during a nightmare. The girl, who is a perfect type of an American school girl.

When she appeared in school today many of her associates hardly knew her. The long braid of hair was missing and the action of the hair was the envy of all the other co-eds and even her teachers on account of her wealth of hair—a decided blonde and with a heavy braid which hung to her waist. Miss Grasse was a perfect type of an American school girl.

When she started to comb her hair this morning, she stood before the mirror and reached back to pull the braid over her shoulder, but it was gone. She stood looking in the mirror in dismay and then ran screaming downstairs to tell the story to her mother.

As she passed through the library she stopped for a moment, and on the library table was the long braid of hair. Beside it was a pair of scissors. It is thought that during a nightmare she cut off her hair, but she remembers nothing of it. The hair was found to have a nightmare. Examination failed to show where anyone had entered the house during the night.

NEW CRISIS THREATENED FOR GREECE

PARLIAMENT REFUSES VOTE OF CONFIDENCE TO PRESENT PREMIER AND CABINET.

ZAIMIS WILL RESIGN

Venizelos, Former Premier, Leads Opposition—Declaring His Party Can No Longer Support Government.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, Nov. 4.—The Zaimis government in Athens was defeated in a discussion of foreign policies in parliament today, and it is expected to resign, says a Havas dispatch from Athens.

A discussion of proposed military laws, the report says, raised a question between the minister of war and the majority party of former Premier Venizelos. On this issue Premier Zaimis decided to ask a vote of confidence.

The discussion then turned to the foreign policy of the government. Mr. Venizelos declared it was impossible for the party longer to sustain the government, whose policy he considered harmful to the interests of the country. All the party leaders engaged in the discussion. The final vote was 147 against the government to 114.

Premier Zaimis has been in office less than a month, having been asked by King Constantine to form a cabinet, after the resignation of Premier Venizelos on October 6. The retirement of the Venizelos ministry grew out of a policy in favor of entering the war with Serbia against Bulgaria, to do which, Mr. Venizelos maintained, Greece was bound by her treaty obligations. The King took the ground that in the circumstances Greece was not obliged to take up arms. Mr. Venizelos resigned the premiership in April owing to a disagreement with the King on a similar question of foreign policy, but won a pronounced victory in the general election in June and after his retirement last month, and the Zaimis ministry was able to maintain itself before parliament only by acquiescence of Mr. Venizelos. In a speech on October 13 the former premier said Greece should not allow Bulgaria to crush Serbia.

Zaimis to Resign.

London, Nov. 4.—The Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company asserted that following his defeat in the chamber of deputies, Premier Zaimis will resign.

PREPARING A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS IN MYRLAND CASE

Proceedings Will Probably Be Brought Friday Morning In Federal Court to Release Official.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 4.—"There will be no further developments in the Myrland case today. We are preparing a writ of habeas corpus and will probably be ready to take the matter up on Friday. In the meantime the law of the matter is being worked into it. It may be that the application of the writ will be made to the federal court, instead of to the state supreme court as originally contemplated."

This was the statement of Attorney General Walter C. Owen, who on behalf of the state is defending Secretary A. J. Myrland of the state tax commission in the contempt proceedings leveled against this official by Judge A. L. Sanborn. Myrland refused to disclose on the witness stand the income tax return of the bankrupt Valcila Condensed Milk company. He gives as his reason that the state income tax law provides heavy penalties for disclosing the facts in an income tax return.

The legal proceeding is a test of the law, are the rights of the state in withholding from the federal court, when the state law specifically provides that this information shall not be made public. According to the Venizelos ministry, the same point has been raised before in a state banking case and upon the information was produced. Attorney General Owen says the point at issue has never been settled.

Those who are interested in the case claim that it presents a situation as interesting as the fugitive slave cases before the opening of the Civil War. Attorney General Owen said he would have the conference with Attorney Jackman Thursday afternoon on the matter.

BOTH SIDES FIRED SHOTS ACROSS LINE

GEN. FUNSTON REPORTS CALLES AS WELL AS VILLA WAS GUILTY OF CARELESSNESS.

VILLA BEHAVES WELL

Holds Interview With U. S. Commander Who Calls His Attitude "Satisfactory"—Villa's Plans Remain a Mystery.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Carranza troops were main offenders in the firing across the border in the battle of Agua Prieta, according to a report from Major General Funston, received today at the war department. The general said both Calles and Villa did all they could to prevent injury to American lives and property.

"I could not in fairness have opened fire on Villa without treating Calles the same way," he added.

General Funston's report, dated last night, described conditions as satisfactory, and added:

"I consider the immediate danger past."

Villa's Attitude Satisfactory.

It described a conference between Villa and Funston at the border, in which both sides agreed to a truce. "His (Villa's) attitude was quite satisfactory," General Funston reported the whereabouts of Villa and his main force was not definitely known. However, though it was reported he was eighteen miles south of Agua Prieta, recapturing his men for another attack. A few of his men and some baggage trains had reached Naco, Sonora. American patrols also reported a camp of about 4,000 men opposite Osborn, Arizona.

Funston estimated Villa's entire force at about 12,000 men, with thirty pieces of field artillery and a large number of machine guns. Contrary to the usual Mexican custom, General Funston said Villa had left all women and children and camp followers at his army at Casas Grandes, and had with him nothing but fighting men who displayed excellent spirit throughout the fight. General Funston's report follows:

Interview With Villa.

"Yesterday General Villa sent a request to my foot for an interview, and though I had serious doubts as to whether my action would be approved, I finally concluded it best to meet him as he might have something to communicate."

"We met on the boundary one mile east of Agua Prieta trenches and talked in Spanish about ten minutes. His attitude was quite satisfactory. More details will be given in personal letters to the chief of staff."

"The withdrawal from Agua Prieta of Villa's main force was made yesterday afternoon and continued until noon today. Long columns of troops were seen plainly from Douglas moving to the westward. The shooting of Calles' artillery on the day of the battle and the conduct of Villa under rather severe fire was excellent. It may not be understood at the war department why, in view of existing orders, I have not said more about the battle. I am considering the fact that some bullets and shells struck the American side and three men were wounded. This was not done because of the evident fact that both sides committed the same error; they could prevent injury to Americans."

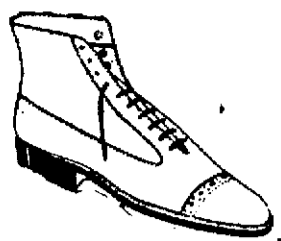

Calles' Most to Blame.

"The principal faults were committed by Carranza's men, and I could not in fairness have fired on Villa without treating Calles' men the same way. For example: Yesterday while Major Hay and other officers were 200 yards north of the boundary and 900 yards from the east flank of Calles' trenches, they were ordered to fire on the American side and nearly hit. Also yesterday a detachment of my cavalry, 1,200 yards in front of the west flank of Calles' trenches, was ordered to fire on the north of the boundary, was fired upon first by machine guns and then six times by artillery. Representations have been made to Calles and he has expressed regret and given necessary assurances."

"The whereabouts of Villa and his main force is unknown. There are persistent rumors that he is eighteen miles south of Agua Prieta, and that he is planning to recapture his men in order to return to the attack, but a small detachment of his forces with some weapons has reached Naco and is purchasing cartridges while an officer is scouting from East Naco reports seeing a detachment of about 4,000 across the boundary from Osborn. The Villa force consists of about 12,000 men, 36 guns and an unknown number of machine guns."

Keeps Carranza Guessing.

RUSH JUST STARTING TO SALE AND EXHIBIT

VISITORS FROM OUTLYING VILLAGES AND CITIES ARRIVE TODAY IN LARGE NUMBERS—MERCHANTS OPTIMISTIC.

BIG CROWDS EXPECTED

Tomorrow and Saturday Expected to be Banner Days by Retailers and Show Promoters.

Today witnessed the first large influx of out-of-town purchasers to the city to take advantage of the booster sale and to see the exhibit of Janesville made products. While many strange faces were seen on the streets yesterday, the crowds were more pronounced today. Expectations are that from now on the city will be the mecca of hundreds who planned to come here during the last few days of the week. Sales yesterday in the stores of the merchants combined in the refund and booster sale, are reported to have totaled above those of the first few days. The crowds are just beginning to take advantage of the opportunities offered. Bigger sale days are expected throughout the remainder of the week. Tomorrow, Friday, will see large crowds here, while Saturday will witness the closing of the week will visit the city, it is expected.

Attendance at the "Made in Janesville" exhibit is going up with leaps and bounds. One good advantage of this attendance to the viewpoint of the promotion committee of the Janesville Commercial club is the large representation of farmers who are viewing the exhibit. During the early morning, previous to 10 o'clock, the exhibit is always to be found a large gathering viewing the different booths and the products of the manufacturers. They run in to the Auditorium building after their trips to the city with milk and on other errands. Through out the afternoon these rural citizens with their wives and families have boosted attendance figures.

Similar conditions were found after a huge cake of ice had been permitted to rest and melt on the top surface. Aside from the fact that the Janesville company is showing buffets, chairs and other tables. Their booth is plain but attractive through its simplicity and the pleasing effects of the dark furniture and the general surroundings. Cut flowers on the tables and buffets are renewed daily.

The Janesville Electric company and the New Gas Light company have the two most attractive booths in the building and the electric company was the best would require a mass of judges. Both are constructed after the pagoda plan with massive columns and light woodwork above. That of the gas company was erected under the supervision of Harry W. Stephenson. Both booths are elaborately decorated and filled with gas and electric appliances and home necessities.

The Janesville Machine company has an elaborate exhibit of plows and implements. For the past several years the Janesville plows have been winners in the great plow contests of the country at Wheatland, Ill. and at various other places. The machine company occupies the first floor space in the center lane of booths. Next to the machine company is the Furniture company and then those of the electric and gas companies.

Another pagoda type booth is that of the Hough Shade Corporation, manufacturer of all of outdoor shades. This is at the end of the building in a line with the above mentioned exhibits. It is an attractive exhibit showing to a great extent the product of the firm. The pagoda is hung with the sun curtains.

At the Shurtliff company booth ice cream sandwiches are dispensed free. The Shurtliff people are also pushing Puritans, a good quality of E. P. Doty, the miller, occupied the next space. Mr. Doty is showing meals and grinding, including all sorts of feeds for fowls and animals. John F. Schaefer is showing an attractive and appetizing showing of sausage and sausages from his market in a glass case in the next space. Parker pens and a demonstrator occupy the next space. A show case aside from containing a collection of pens and pens has within, a number of letters from abroad to demonstrate the different parts of the globe where the Parker company has representatives and companies.

The Chas. Grey boy works is represented by a tall pyramid of bottles containing the various makes of the drink all of the different colors that has made the product famous. Aside from the Chas. Grey is advertising ginger ale and siphon water. J. Watkins, in the next section is showing his various makes of cigars.

The parcel post exhibit of the post-office is interesting. It is similar to August and with the same purpose of educating the public in the proper wrapping of packages for mail shipment and the use of the parcel post. The Janesville business college, which is located in the people and white, the school colors. They are showing the advantages of a business education and other features of commercial study.

The Janesville Endeavor society booth is in charge of the Rev. George Edwin Parson. Within are numerous publications for visitors to take home and read. The idea of a religious and social exhibit has received much favorable comment.

The Wisconsin Carriage company also has an exhibit in the center row of the building. They are showing the latest models in side door cutters, demure and buggies. The Sheldon Hardware company is introducing its great barn ventilators, tin shop and stove brands. The Nitscher separator company is showing cream separators, cow and laundry appliances. Dustless coal and building materials are being shown by the Pfaff Lumber company in their booth. A. D. Foster and Sons, the electric shoe shop proprietors, have a booth showing repairs made with electrically run machines.

The Janesville Batting Mills are exhibiting cotton bats and have introduced an educational feature in their decorations through the use of the cotton as it is picked in the fields of the south, about the edges of the booth. F. F. Van Coevern has Holland furnaces on display and is also showing patent registers for the same. The Janesville Paper Box and Printing company is showing pretty decorated boxes for all occasions. The J. M. Bostwick store has purchased the exhibit and will place them on sale later.

P. Hohenadel, Jr., company, canners and packers of vegetables, are advertising their products. They are giving free to show visitors samples of canned peas and sauerkraut. The booth of the Gazette Printing company shows printed wedding invitations and other job-work, including a series of elaborate color process work for local manufacturers. There is also an exhibit showing the extent of the news service as furnished the Gazette through the medium of the Associated Press, which has correspondents in every country of the globe.

13th Annual Wisconsin Older Boys' Conference Will Be Held at Eau Claire, Nov. 26-28.

On November 26 to 28 the Thirtieth Annual Wisconsin Older Boys' Conference will be held this year at Eau Claire. Last year this conference was at Fond du Lac and over six hundred delegates were in attendance. This year all the "Y" and Sunday school associations are going to send a large number of delegates and a record set by Fond du Lac is going to be beaten. A number have already signed up to go and Rock county is going to try to send a large number of representatives.

Special features have been arranged for the program of the conference and on Friday evening at the conference banquet addresses will be delivered by "Cub" Buck, captain of the University of Wisconsin football team, and John Alexander of Chicago.

Saturday evening addresses will be given by Fred E. A. Steiner of Grinnell, Iowa, a famous author and lecturer. Sunday afternoon all the delegates will meet at a mass meeting and the most popular speakers to-date in every manner and all the visitors will enjoy its privileges during these days.

For the past few years this conference has been held in northern cities and it is very likely that next year it will be held in the southern part of the state. This year the delegations from Racine, Beloit, Milwaukee, and Janesville and surrounding parts of the country will meet in Madison and travel to Eau Claire in a special car.

FOOTBALL ADVANCE IN THE FAR WEST

Defeat of the Michigan Aggies convinces that West Can Hold Own On the Gridiron.

Just like the frontier line in old days, football has moved west so rapidly that this year there is no recognized "frontier." The game is played in the far west and played just as well as in the east.

Until this year old time rugby was the big game on the Pacific coast. But the advance of the regulation American football game in the hearts of the people is so rapid that it has nearly every big "rugby" institution to play football or play to empty stands.

The triumph of the Oregon agricultural college over the famous team of Michigan agricultural college last Sunday shows very well the caliber of coast football. And a bigger surprise is this: The Oregon aggies are not the best eleven in the west and is not a once in a thousand team. Washington university, coached by the famous Gilmore Dobie, the man who hasn't lost a football game for ten years, is a better team than Oregon, according to the records. Washington in a game several weeks ago quite decisively walloped Oregon. In that case what would Washington do to some of the "unbeatable" in the middle west and in the east?

The advance of the game in the far west states and even in the southern states makes it a pretty hard task for anyone to choose an All-American honor every team. In the west Oregon and Washington and maybe several others all boast of stars who can outshine the wonderful De Pato, Smith and other great Michigan Aggie men. At present, the choice should be made nearly an All-American than ever before.

CONFERENCE STUDENTS FAVOR SUMMER BASEBALL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—By a vote of 4,142 to 345, the students of the western conference colleges registered themselves against the present ruling making an athlete ineligible for competition in all sports if he has played professional baseball. The straw vote at Minnesota, where Capt. Solon was recently lost to the football team on account of the ruling, was the highest, 1,822 students voting against it. At Wisconsin 775 were against the rule and but 78 for it. Chicago will not vote until Friday and Northwestern and Purdue have yet decided to hold such a vote. The results which were overwhelming against the measure in all of the five colleges, will be sent to the faculty governing board of the conference, and will in all probability have some effect upon their action toward the rule when they meet in the winter.

The summary of the vote follows:
Wisconsin—For abolition of rule, 775; against, 78.
Ohio State—For abolition of rule, 414; against, 31.
Minnesota—For abolition of rule, 1,822; against, 171.
Iowa—For abolition of rule, 252; against, 20.
Illinois—For abolition of rule, 669; against, 32.
Indiana—For abolition of rule, 200; against, 14.

OLDIRING WILL DESERT FOLD OF THE ATHLETICS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 4.—Rube Oldiring, left fielder of the Athletics, has decided to retire from baseball in the future he will devote his time to his large farm at Shiloh, N. J. The retirement of Oldiring is somewhat of a surprise.
Manager Mack of the Athletics said he received notice from Oldiring of his intention to quit the game and that was all he knew about the matter. Reports have been in circulation that Mack, after the close of the last season, intended to trade his popular left fielder to some other team, and that because he was not satisfied with the deal Oldiring kicked out of harness.

HASS HEADS BADGER BASKETBALL TEAM

WISCONSIN STUDENTS SEEK TO ABOLISH THE KICKING OF FIELD GOAL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, Nov. 3.—Students at the University of Wisconsin have joined with students at Illinois and Minnesota universities to promote, if possible, the abolishment of the goal kick which played so important a part in the two big conference football matches last Saturday. Followers of the Badgers declare that the failure by Elmer Simpson to kick the second goal, might cost Wisconsin the conference championship. On the other hand, Illinois and the Gophers battled to 6 tie, while if one team had kicked a goal, the other eleven would likewise have been eliminated from sharing western honors. Just what action the student bodies will take in regard to the matter is a question that will be brought up later. It is believed the sentiment will carry much weight when the gridiron rules committee meets in the spring.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

Miss Molla Bjurstedt of Norway, who won the women's national lawn tennis championship in June, and many other titles throughout the eastern states this summer, has accepted an invitation of the Pacific Coast Tennis association and will visit San Francisco, Los Angeles and other cities on the coast, playing a series of exhibition matches against the ex-champions, Mrs. Thomas Hand, (formerly May Sutton) and Mrs. C. V. Wrightman (formerly Hazel Hotchkiss).

Get on! That's what counts in a ball game. It makes no difference whether it is the old base hit, drawing four balls or taking one in the ribs, just so you get it. You have to get on base before you can hope to score, and the player who can "get on" is a valuable man to have on a ball club. The second Young in the Philadelphia Ledger, Harold Janvry, substitute infielder for the Red Sox, ranks as one of the best dancers in New England. He learned how to dance in his high school days, is a graceful youngster, and constant practice since then has caused his admirers to say that Castle hasn't any husky "edge" on Janvry when it comes to terpsichorean skill.

The "lead-off" man does not have to be a hitter; in fact, few of them are found among the leaders in the batting averages, and if they are there it is by drawing bases on balls or getting to first one way or another. To top the batting order a player must have speed, in addition to the other qualities, in order to be able him to beat out taps or to reach first on a fumble or slow fielding in case he hits to the infield. The idea is to get on somehow.

In making up his team a manager will pick his cleverest batsman—not his hardest hitter or his best hitter—but his man who can "lay down a bunt" for a sacrifice, or a man who can be depended upon to hit the ball and protect a base runner on the hit-and-run play. Of course, there is no certainty about him hitting the ball for the man on the mound is out there trying to outguess him; but the second man in the list is usually one who is reasonably certain to protect the runner whenever necessary.

In the third position is the star batsman of the team, who is capable of putting through the case hit after the "lead-off" man has reached first and advanced on the sacrifice, and fourth position is the place of the "clean-up" man. The remainder of the batting order is made up according to the hitting strength of the players, with the battery usually bringing up the rear; the catcher eighth and the pitcher ninth. There are many different systems employed by the various managers in making up their teams, although occasionally a catcher who can hit above the average is placed higher in the batting order. Schall of the Chicago White Sox, Clark of Cincinnati and Chief Meyers of New York—when the burly Indian backstop was hitting at his top speed—being some of the good-hitting catchers who have been given places of distinction.

In placing each member of the team in order to obtain the best results a manager may make many changes in his line-up in the course of a season but there probably is more experimenting in the search for "lead-off" men than for any other position in the list. If a regular member of the team hits a batting slump for any length of time he can be benched in favor of a utility man who recovers his batting eye, or he may be dropped in the batting order for the same reason, but once a player proves his ability to lead off he usually holds his position.

Frank L. Kramer recently won the national cycling championship for the fifteenth year in succession at the Newark velodrome. The crown was retained by defeating Alfred Goulet, the Australian, in a five-mile race. These men finished the regular season at Newark with 45 points each, and a series of races, best two in three, at five miles, was determined upon to decide the title. Kramer winning the first two races, Kramer will be thirty-five years old next month, and has been riding as a professional since 1889.

Rebuild Offices.
The Paulsen and company, at the corner of Church and Maple street, whose buildings and practically the entire stock of lumber was destroyed by fire on September 17th, are hurrying the work of rebuilding, as much as possible, so as to be in shape for business before winter. Their new offices and storage building are of much larger size and more modern design than those recently burned. The main lumber stock building, the concrete foundation and floors of which are already in place, will be a two-story building covering a ground space of one hundred thirty-seven by one hundred forty-four feet. This building will contain car tracks, so that several cars may be run into the building at once and unloaded under cover.

KEEP HEALTH GOOD THIS WINTER FOR DRUGS WILL BE HIGH
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New York, Nov. 4.—This winter is going to be a very fine time for everybody to keep well because the drug famine precipitated by the European war has greatly increased the high cost of being ill.

"Some of our best professional invalids have experienced sudden recovery recently and we have reason to believe the experience was superinduced by the prices of prescriptions, remarked a New York physician.
The big drug firms, in spite of increasing prices on some drugs more than 300 per cent, cannot supply the demand because there is no supply.
Quinine has jumped from 20 cents to $2.25 an ounce, glycerine from 20 to 55 cents a pound, cod liver oil from $40 to $80 a barrel, sage from 5c to 35c a pound. Sweet herbs, bromides, potassium permanganates, olive oil, sarsaparilla, and many other drugs have gone way up. Some drugs cannot be obtained for love, money nor influence.

LONG DELAYED OPENING OF FRENCH OPERA WILL BE ENDED DURING THIS MONTH

Paris, Nov. 4.—The long delayed opening of the opera is now promised for this month. Monsieur Rouche, the new director, says he will give only two matinees a week on Sunday and Thursday with French operas to begin with followed by works of the "Allies." Monsieur Albert Carre of the Comedie Francaise, adopting the same idea of favoring Ally authors, is preparing a production of "Cicouaud" by Gabriel d'Annunzio to be followed by "Le Cloître" and the Belgian poet Verhaeren. New pieces are not lacking, Monsieur

THE HANDLING OF FRUIT.
One of the notable changes in the fruit industry is the improved methods of packing and handling it. Many of us who were brought up as boys on or near farms have a vivid memory of the careless way in which the average farmer used to handle his fruit.

The old-timer used to sling around such a fruit as apples, as if a Baldwin was a stick of wood. An apple looks as if it had a pretty firm texture. But a slight dent or abrasion starts decay which soon spreads throughout that specimen, and is communicated to others.

An apple sorter would sit down on a box and toss the fruit to place several feet away. Apples would be poured from baskets into barrels, and those that were poured in first would be very considerably decayed by the time the barrel was filled, an honest packer would give it a thorough shaking down, so as to be sure his customer got good measure. There is no doubt jammed the fruit still more and established the seeds of decay.

The well trained grower of today is learning that fruit is one of the most perishable products in the world. With a padded bench for sorting, and the wrapping of individual specimens in tissue, delicate fruits are successfully carried indefinite distances, and come out about as good as they hung on the tree. Growers of oranges, peaches, lemons, etc., long ago learned the watchful care that must be given the delicate tissues. But thousands and thousands of apple growers have not yet learned this end of their business.

These modern methods seem finicky to the old-timer, but they bring big returns in money. Not merely does fruit look handsomer when received in that way, but it will last longer, bring a higher price, and be worth more money to the consumer. Producers that do not go the limit to keep their fruit from getting wounds and abrasions in transit can not expect to stand anywhere in the critical modern market.

BRIGHT REPUBLICAN PROSPECT.
That the republican party of the country is now an active, militant and content organization is the word that is brought back to Washington by Secretary James H. Reynolds, of the Republican National Committee, who for the past two months has been making a tour of the west, the north-west and the middle west. Upon this trip he has been in personal touch with political leaders and conditions in twenty-one different states, and has had opportunity to gauge the political sentiment of these sections of the country.

"The republican party," said Mr. Reynolds on his return to Washington, "is getting into splendid condition for the contest of next year. The reunion of those who separated in 1912 has already taken place, and the voters who followed the republican banner in that year and those who enlisted under the progressive flag are now working shoulder to shoulder in the same cause, that of ending the present political reign in the nation."

Keeping this in mind let Wisconsin make no mistake and seek to follow any false gods. This is the year that Wisconsin has redeemed itself and it must send a solid delegation to the national republican convention in hearty accord with the principles of the republican party. A delegation that is not pledged to meeting a sentiment and siding in securing humanitarian engagements. It is a question of the life or death of the American industry and let us hope that the thumbs of the populace will be thumbs up and industry saved from annihilation.

COTTONSEED AT $50.
A news dispatch from Montgomery says that cottonseed is selling there at $50 a ton. Never before has such a price for seed been realized, and it marks an interesting development in the utilization of what was once considered worthless.

Cottonseed was worse than worthless, for it was an expense to get rid of it. In some states laws even were passed forbidding planters and ginners from dumping it into running streams. But now, at current prices, the seed of the present crop should be worth fully one-third that of the lint.

Generally speaking, 2.2 bales of cotton represent a ton of seed. The present crop has been estimated at around 11,000,000 bales, making a yield of 5,000,000 tons of seed a probability, and thus adding $250,000,000 to the value of the cotton crop.

In 1906 the price per ton was $13.80, and in 1910, $27.40, which at that time was considered a good price. Prices are affected by conditions of the olive markets of Europe and Asia, the run of hogs or the price of lard, and in a large degree by the harvest of the oilseeds and in making soap, as well as the demand for feeders for the cake or meal. A larger export demand and increased domestic consumption is foreshadowed in this increase of price.

If the friends of cotton wish to advance its cause still further, they may find in the seed alone something more substantial than laws regulating exchanges, and government subsidies. They might even add a hundred million to the value of the crop by experimenting for process to make the meal available for human food. Such a thing is not impossible. It is even highly probable.

Chicago is sending out an appeal to the press of the country to announce that there will be no free soup houses for the bums that congregate in the city during the winter months. The soup that is to be given away will be given to Chicago's legitimate residents not to transients, they inform the press and ask the word to be passed along.

An exchange is rather hard on Dr. Dumba, late Austrian representative to Uncle Sam, when it says that his advancement to the nobility is rather by a decree of government than by nature. One should not be too hard on a man who served his country well.

Janesville had an epidemic of petty thievery and no arrests were made as the culprits could not be located. Beloit is now having a taste of the same sort of medicine and thus far no arrests have been made, and the get-away is still safe.

Soldiers in Flanders have reverted to war clubs as weapons. Soon they will be using flint arrows and spears with bull hides for shields. They would only have to go back a few centuries to find the prototype of this style.

Some day we will receive glad tidings that one side or the other in this war has ceased to roll back its opposition and then perhaps we may hope for some sort of a plan for a peaceful solution of the whole situation.

The "Fore" of the golfers is still heard and the man who has not yet taken up this game and developed the golf bug to its fullest extent is not worth his salt in the minds of the followers of the Scotch game.

Greece and Rumania are about as enthusiastic over the Balkan situation as the lawyer who has been retained, but has received no fee, and does not even expect to get one no matter how the case goes.

Harvard has a nineteen year old assistant professor. It is safe to say he does not roll cigarettes and the time he spends in pool rooms is something less than the average high school boy of today does.

The burning question of the day is whether the Moose and Elephant are going to trot in the same traces and win the race over the agile donkey with a bit of thistle tied on a stick ahead of his nose.

Of course the suffragists did not lose anything they never had when three of the big eastern states refused to grant equal suffrage. Neither did Bryan ever lose the presidency for he never had it.

A mandolin always goes with a tenor voice. Is it possible that we may learn of President Wilson singing sweet-serenades into the ears of his bride-to-be on some of these fine autumn evenings?

Greece and Rumania also apparently have adopted the Wilson watchful waiting policy. Inasmuch as he is not patient if they have adopted it, without any questions being asked.

The average man doesn't want a job. He wants a sinecure.

"Mother!" cried the beautiful girl as she burst into her mother's state-room on the transatlantic liner Wombat, "mother, I'm a heroine! I saved 3,000 lives!"

"How so?" queried the languid lady lazily.
"Oh, mother, to think of the times I have read Sir Walter Scott and Robert W. Chambers and the other long dead masters of romance, and wished myself in the place of their heroines! It has been the dream of my life. At last, it has come true! I am a heroine!"

"But how, Vasmaline?" put her petulant parent.
"Oh, mother, the second mate—you know, the handsome one with the eyebrows—the second mate was talking to me on the lee hatchways or somewhere and all of a sudden he demanded a kiss. Of course I indignantly refused. And then, oh mother, he swore if I didn't kiss him he would sink the ship with all of the 3,000 passengers aboard. Oh, mother, I am a heroine starboard scupper the cook's orderly sounded eleven bells."

Salicylate has jumped from 60 cents to $4.15 a pound; salicylate of sodium from 25 cents to $5 a pound, and aspirin from 15 cents to 85 cents per ounce.

All other drug items which have advanced materially in price since the war are: potassium bromide, salicylic acid, oil of peppermint, cod liver oil, licorice root, ammonium bromide, alum, acid benzoic, soda benzoate, strychnine, and manna.

WAR CAUSES HIGH PRICES ON DRUGS
Janesville Druggists Feel Effects of High Prices on Drugs—All Drugs More Than Doubled in Prices.

Practically all lines of drugs have advanced from 50 to 300 per cent in price in the United States since the war began, according to the Janesville druggists. Shortage of materials used in the manufacture of these drugs is given as the main reason for the phenomenal advance.

One of the most phenomenal jumps in prices has been on quinine, salts, different kinds of acids, mainly salicylic. The price on this acid before the war was 50 cents a pound and now the price is $5 a pound. Salicylic soda also has taken a big jump, going from 75 cents a pound to $5 a pound.

Iodine has more than doubled in price since the beginning of the war. Before the war it was $2 a pound and now it is $6. All iodides have doubled in price also. Bismuth has advanced from $1.90 a pound to $2.80 and $3.00.

Carbolic acid, like other acids, has advanced in price. It used to be 35 cents a pound and now it is selling for $2.00 a pound. Just one per cent of all the carbolic acid made is manufactured in the United States. It is used extensively in Europe in the manufacture of high explosives. Another drug which has jumped considerably is glycerine, which is now selling at 75 cents a pound and formerly sold for 35 cents.

Powdered Quinine.
Powdered quinine has advanced from 30 cents to $2.10 an ounce. Bromo salts from about 60 cents to $5 a pound. The raw material is originally taken out of South America and shipped to Germany, where the quinine is removed. Current supplies of Cinchona bark, coupled with heavy purchases by the warring nations is the cause for the boost in quinine, declare the druggists.

Eton and Metol.
These two drugs, Eton and Metol, are now entirely off the market. They are used in photography and different American drug companies are experimenting to find a substitute. SEND AMERICAN COTTON FROM FRANCE DOWN THE RHINE TO THE GERMANS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Lausanne, Switzerland, Nov. 4.—According to news received here from Muttet, a heavy consignment of cotton that arrived there recently is being sent across the frontier into Germany, notwithstanding the rigorous measures against contraband. The consignment is said to have received from Germany about the same time a thousand large tin boxes. It was noticed that the cotton was gradually disappearing; the tin boxes also. The cotton, compressed in the boxes, found its way into the Rhine and was fished out by the Baden ferryman who operates the line between Switzerland and Germany a little farther down stream.

The British hat trades issues this warning: "The manufacturers of felt hats and caps cannot now guarantee the fastness of the dye, so beware of the rain."

SAGE TEA BEST WAY TO TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Combined With Sulphur Makes Good Old-Fashioned Treatment.

A good old-fashioned remedy for darkening gray hair is a compound of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Avoid the trouble of making it yourself by getting a bottle of Sulpho-Sage. This is a dainty toilet preparation based on the old-fashioned formula with other helpful ingredients added. It is in no sense a dye, but merely causes nature to bring back to each gray hair the original rich, dark shade. This is done so evenly that no one knows you are using anything. New gray hairs are kept from showing. Sulpho-Sage removes dandruff, gives your hair a glossy lustre and beauty that will make you look ten years younger. The Clifton Chemical Co., Newark, N. gone tomorrow can give a man like Francis X. Bushman an opportunity to show his real ability. To show him to his best he must enact the leading role in a play that is not only suited to him in particular but that also carries a real story. Such is "Graustark." From the pen of George Barr McCutcheon, the novel "Graustark" has been immensely popular. It is a story of love and adventure that warms every heart, and the plot holds the reader's keenest interest. The adventures of the courageous, open-hearted young American brings thrills of pleasure.

It is this central character that gives Mr. Bushman his great opportunity in "Graustark." Few characters in fiction are so well suited to "America's Ideal Hero" as he is called. In every item of appearance and manner, Mr. McCutcheon might have had Bushman in mind when he wrote the story and created the character of the dashing young hero. And as it happens, Mr. Bushman was born and raised in the same part of the country as the hero in the story.

But must not be thought that Mr. Bushman constitutes the whole attraction of the picture. Every critic who is available agrees that the whole cast is excellent, and that the whole production is unusually pretentious, making it one of the most artistic and elaborate pictures yet produced.

It will be shown at the Majestic tonight at 7:30 and 9:00, and tomorrow at 2:30, 4:00, 7:30 and 9:00.

AT THE PRINCESS.

Marie Cahill Tomorrow. Marie Cahill's name is as familiar throughout the United States as the name of Broadway itself. The wonderful art of Marie Cahill is prescribed for laughing purposes only. When Marie appears before an audience, whether on the stage or on the screen—it is the signal for a big laugh.

She is beyond question America's favorite comedienne. She gets more comic fun out of the hilarious situations in "Judy Forgot" at the Princess tomorrow, than would be possible for any other actress now before the public.

Marie Cahill was engaged for this great picture for the purpose of pleasing the public and popularizing the Exhibitors' theatres. "Judy Forgot" furnishes fun for New York's millions for sixteen weeks on Broadway, with Marie Cahill as Judy. Marie and Judy then went on tour for a long season, making two laughs grow where only one grew before.

"The Birth of a Nation" will be seen at Myers theatre all this week, matinee and night daily.

STUDY IN FOREIGN LANGUAGE IS GREATER IN BRITISH SCHOOLS

London, Nov. 4.—Classes in Russian, French and Spanish are prospering in London as never before. It is recognized that Germany's great gains in trade were due largely to the pains German clerks and business men took to acquire foreign languages. Special courses in the Slav tongue, including Polish and the Balkan dialects, are now established at King's College, University of London. T. G. Masaryk, professor of philosophy in the Czech University of Prague, and formerly a prominent politician in the Austrian parliament, is the head of the school. Instruction in the languages will be accompanied by lectures in Slavonic history and literature. Spanish is rather the latest to be taken up, just as Russian was the first after the outbreak of the war. The Welsh people, on account of being bilingual, are the cleverest students in language, and the Scotch next, according to the teachers.

ABSINTHE SHELL NEW NAME FOR EXPLOSIVE USED BY THE FRENCH

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Paris, Nov. 4.—The "absinthe shell" is the latest in high explosives. Abolished in France as a drink, the French are shooting absinthe into the Germans from the muzzles of their artillery.

In the manufacture of explosives, chemically pure alcohol is used to treat cotton-fulminates. As not enough alcohol is made from sugar of beets, the government has seized the tens of thousands of gallons of absinthe scattered over the country in warehouses and cellars. This absinthe is shipped to distilleries where pure alcohol is made from it. So despite these "absinthe shells" German soldiers, in a possible case of Jags, can scarcely expect to get off by saying, "I admit, captain, that I was drunk and disorderly, but it wasn't my fault; I was hit by a French absinthe shell."

GEORGE FAWCETT IN 'MAJESTY OF THE LAW'

Photoplay Holds Interest of Audience at Apollo Theatre.

"The Majesty of the Law," with George Fawcett supported by an all star cast, was a photo drama which fulfilled the promise of the producers and held the interest of the Apollo audience from start to finish last evening.

George Fawcett in the role of the judge who repudiates his son after the latter seems guilty of theft and later by a chain of circumstances is forced to sentence his own son to a prison term because of his conviction of embezzlement is an admirable example of a strong man at bay twist love and duty. Fawcett was intermingled with humor when the stern judge after wielding the arms of justice was seen out marketing and stealthily depositing provisions at the home of the negro mammy whose husband had been sentenced to imprisonment by the judge.

William Desmond, who as the son portrays the part of the ardent sweetheart and loyal friend, was admirably fitted to the part, as was Myrtle Steadman, as the petite southern maid and Lawrence Evans the weak, but generous, son of the bank president.

And lifting the instrument and his silver head he answered his wistful query with the plaintive sweetness of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

"That," he smiled, "is the way out, son, in case you should lose yourself in the shadows—the lonely shadows of dishonor and sin."

He laid his hand on Sandry's arm and slowly the young man's face grew darkly crimson. His lips twitched and he turned away. "I'll go down to camp, son," said the preacher to Daily, "there are those there who are always there."

There was a quick sliding of something like fear in his voice.

"All there," said Daily kindly as the peculiar arrival turned away.

"He is a bit embarrassing at times, Mr. Sandry," he apologized, "but innocent—and a bit of the God he preaches. Says he's the father of all things fatherless. It's the strongest grip of his trouble, the idea that he's a father to everybody an' everything that needs him—regular lunatic on the point. Pitiful sometimes in his eagerness. But he's loved from Seattle to Santa Barbara, and known all over the coast."

"Let's go down to the trail," said Sandry, changing the subject, "we'll rush the work on the double quick. Put on an extra crew. I'm going to take heed to that swindler's words. He meant what he said. There's something crooked here."

CHAPTER XI.

An Unrecorded Deed.

The Preacher proved to be the strangest thing in all this strange country to Sandry as he watched him in the days that followed. He spoke but seldom and then with a quaint precision, a beauty of speech and thought that amazed the man from the East. But they were old thoughts, Sandry found at last, thoughts formulated in the fire and enthusiasm of youth, hence still burning when youth had fled and age had brought its empty seeming.

"And it is there," he said to himself, "that Stetzel gets her manner of speech, though her visions are her own, born of her centered soul."

At the end of the week Sandry went to Salem. When he returned his face was drawn as if from loss of sleep, and he summoned Daily to the office. Sandry pulled open a drawer in his desk and took out the deed to the East Belt.

"This," he said tensely, "has never been recorded. I searched the records at the land office and our deed is not there. Instead there is a brand new homestead filing in the name of T. J. O'Connell, filing, either old Frazer was crooked or a fool."

There was a strained note in the owner's voice. His foreman sat in the tip-titled office chair, open-mouthed and round-eyed.

"Then Hampden's got th' strange holt—damn his soul to hell! He knows about the contract an' he'll kick it if he can. But Frazer wasn't crooked, Mr. Sandry, I'd stake my life on that."

"Then why did he sell me the East Belt stumps—the prize card in the Dillingworth pack—without a recorded deed? This isn't worth its paper," He waved the folded slip.

"And why didn't you verify all papers, Mr. Sandry, when you made the deal?"

Daily was entirely earnest and unconscious of the effrontery of his words. Sandry's boyish face flushed painfully.

"Inexperience," he said bluntly; "faith in men, though by all the signs I should have lost that, and lastly no conception that such a thing could be done. Our first move now, however, is to find Frazer."

Daily shook his head.

"That new bucker we took on yesterday in the bunch of new men told me last night that Frazer was in 'Frisco two weeks ago, and was going south. Sailed on the mail boat for Panama."

Sandry regarded his foreman grimly out of sparkling blue eyes.

"Then," he said, after a moment's thought, "we'll save our contract first and fight for our stumpsage later."

He rose and began gathering up the papers on his desk.

"At noon," said he, thinking rapidly and with astonishing ease in this, his first business crisis, "you will take every man of the present work. We will build no more trail toward the East Belt now. Instead we will lay track as fast as possible into the timber at the head of the valley there to the north. You know that contract calls for six million feet of logs to be in raft at Yaquina Bay by the sixteenth of March. If it is not there we lose our big profits and the connection with this powerful company. Now get busy."

Speculation and comment were rife in camp when Daily announced at noon that all work along present lines was to be dropped and that all hands were to fall to laying track to the north.

"By jingo," grumbled Collins openly, "we're gettin' scared out by th' Yella Pines! Ef it ain't plumb disgusting!"

"Quit!" cried Jim Anworthy, "let a bunch o' outthroats call us quitters? What's eatin' you, John?"

"Orders," said the foreman warningly, and the men buzzed like a nest of hornets. Among the old hands at the camp it was almost a personal affair and they took it to heart, criticizing with that freedom which characterized their kind and laying the blame upon the new owner, the tenderfoot from the East. Feeling at the abrupt giving up of operations at Hampden's threats ran so high that three old timers—including Smith the hook-tender, a jewel in the crown of any logging camp—rolled down their sleeves and called for their time.

"Can't stand the atmosphere," said little Smith, setting his round, narrow-brimmed felt hat a trifle forward on his bullet head, "it's gettin' too cultured. We'll be asked to stop swearin' next, an' eatin' with our spoons. Me fer th' timber right. I don't like civilization."

"Let them go," said Sandry grimly, "I'll learn how and teach hook myself if necessary."

Days slipped by so swiftly that Sandry scarce found time to count them, and they were all too short. He was out before day had even crept up the eastern slopes of the great Cascades, and was still going when it died half across the Pacific to the west. He ate like a logger and slept without a dream.

The dampness freshened his cheeks and curled his hair into a riot under his gray felt hat; and Siletz, glancing sideways from under her level brows flushed darkly beneath her dusky skin at the wonderful man-beauty of him. She could not forget the day in the fern glade when he had stooped to her for that passing kiss. She felt a constant pulling of all her nature to fall in a little way behind and follow him. This feeling puzzled her and several times she caught herself almost in the act when he passed through the big room, or paced the length of the porch.

She fed sugar to Black Bolt, sat on the seven-foot fir stump on the ridge with an arm over the staid shoulders of Coochah, watched the wonderful gold lights in Miss Ordway's hair, and dreamed more than ever. Upon the Preacher she waited hand and foot with a devotion beautiful in its unconsciousness.

Ma Daily went about her business in an unusual silence; and she, too, took in all the details of the author from the East, but with a far different eye.

"Don't like her smile," she soliloquized in the steam of her important realm, "tain't thick. It's spread on mighty thin—like a step-ma's jam."

But to Sandry, when he found one of his rare half-hours of cessation from the rushing work, that same smile, brilliant and well-poised and of the distant world, was a refreshing wind.

"You're working too hard, Mr. Sandry," Miss Ordway often told him, "why don't you go after this Hampden man?"

"Haven't time. This contract may mean the slow gain of years. I must save it first and by all means."

"H'm. I'm keen for the unusual. There may be a lot in this. I believe I'll do a little investigating. You know I spoke of it and you said go ahead—"

"I wouldn't mix up with that man, Miss Ordway. He's the coarsest type I ever met with."

"Trust me," said Miss Ordway briefly, and the next moment could have shaken herself for the salt-slangy, half-boastful expression.

And upon the word she put her intention into action, for with her usual far-sightedness she saw an almost uncanny opening and dovetailing of plans.

Dinner Stories

It was the first time that the little little girl had been on a visit alone, and papa had carefully instructed her as to how she should behave.

dined.' It turned out just as papa had anticipated.

"Oh, dear, did I hurt you?" she sympathized, as she realized her carelessness.

"Hell, no. I'm a Christian Scientist," came the reply as the boy clasped the injured member in both hands and hopped about on his other foot.

"John, dear," said his wife, "there was a poor man here today asking for old clothes and I gave him that shabby old overcoat of yours that was hanging in the attic. You didn't want it, did you?"

"Of course I wanted it!" exclaimed John, wrathfully. "That's the one I always wear when I swear off my taxes."

COUNTY'S ONLY FLAG TAKEN DOWN IN RAGS

WORLD'S FAIR BANNER WHICH HUNG IN COURT ROOM IS REMOVED FROM WALLS.

NEED EMBLEM BADLY.

Other Large Flag Purchased for County Building in 1883 Has Long Since Gone to Pieces.

Rock county is without a flag for its court house. This situation became known on Wednesday when L. M. Nelson, janitor of the county building, removed from the south wall of the circuit court room the large silk flag known as the world's fair flag, which was hung in the Wisconsin building at the Columbian exposition in Chicago, in 1893. The banner, which was purchased by the county board at a cost of $75, has been once repaired, but it is again in a sad state of dilapidation, the white stripes being in tatters and the whole banner is badly soiled. The emblem is not beyond repair, however, as the white stripes could easily be replaced and the red and blue portions are still in good condition except for dust discoloration.

It was through the efforts of Mrs. John Winans that the flag was brought back to Rock county after the exposition was over, and it was Mrs. Winans who urged the county board to purchase the flag. It was placed as an emblem for Rock county at the fair. It is, or was a beautiful flag, with a binding of gold fringe, a long gold cord and tassels, and with a blue sash pennant at the top of the staff carrying the words "Rock County" in gold embroidery. The flag has graced the wall back of the circuit judge's bench for more than twenty years.

During the passing of the world's fair flag, Rock county is without a flag for its court house, either on the inside walls or for the outside staff. It has been years since Old Glory has been on the breeze above the building, and the ensign which was used for that purpose, a large flag, forty feet in length, has long ago been consigned to the store room, too ragged and tattered and worn to be displayed. This flag was purchased as county clerk, according to L. M. Nelson, it has been used rather infrequently owing to the condition of the court house, flag pole and in later years the unsightly appearance of the flag itself. At the time it was purchased the flag pole was stationed over the cupola of the building and it was a real man's job to raise the flag, especially if there was a stiff wind blowing.

Mr. Nelson recalled one experience which he had during the term of Tom Croft, the only democrat to hold of the county seat for Rock county. It was on Washington's birthday of the year that Mr. Croft took office. It was a stormy winter's day with a fierce gale ranging. Mr. Croft accosted Mr. Nelson during the morning and asked him to raise the flag. Mr. Nelson, during the morning, had been standing on the roof of the court house on the anniversary of the birth of "The Father of Our Country."

"I'm just as patriotic as you are but I don't care to tackle the job of putting up the flag on a day like this without some help. If you will volunteer I'm willing to try it," Mr. Croft accosted him. The suggestion and the two men started for the cupola. There are five sixteen feet ladders that have to be climbed to reach the top. Mr. Nelson went ahead with the flag and when he got to the top he turned to see where his assistant was. He was nowhere in sight. Mr. Nelson called down to him. Croft had gotten as far as the top of the first ladder, and was panting with the effort. "I guess it's too much of a job for me," he cried back. "All right," said Nelson, "this isn't the first time that the democratic party has deserted the old flag."

"I could make such a remark to Croft," Mr. Nelson explained, "because he was an old soldier himself and had fought in the Union army, and saw the flag of the Union come down after raising the flag alone, he shook hands with me and laughed over the joke."

It was while the flag pole was located on top of the cupola that it crashed down in a wind storm, breaking in three or four pieces, several of them breaking through the roof, smashing rafters, and had they not fallen across a twelve by twelve beam would have broken through the court room ceiling and perhaps done more serious damage. As it was the court room ceiling was sprung out of shape and has never been successfully repaired.

After this disaster a flag pole was raised from the roof of the court house, but trouble was experienced in keeping the rope in repair and when the flag pole wore out there was no use for what the county had. Mr. Nelson, in the estimation of Mr. Nelson, is a pole erected from the entrance portico which would be easy of access and would display the flag with sufficient sightliness.

It has been suggested that Judge Grigam may bring the matter of repairing the world's fair flag to the attention of the county board at the coming session, as the banner could be used as a fund raising device. A little more than ten dollars, and the county would be preserving a flag which has more or less significance and value, since it graced the halls of one of the buildings in the first great world's fair.

Whether or not the world's fair flag is perpetuated it behooves the county board to provide for a suitable flag for the court house, and if the old flag pole is not what it should be, to secure a new one. It is a matter which patriotic societies or school authorities might feel free to suggest in case the action is not forthcoming from among the supervisors themselves.

QUESTION OF WIDENING ROOT RIVER IN COURT

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 4.—The question of whether the Root river shall be widened was argued before District court at Caledonia today. The plan which involves an expenditure of about $168,000, calls for a widening of the river for the last twenty-two miles of its course in order to avoid floods.

Fourteen Minnesota farmers, headed by E. A. Sprague, a Caledonia financier and business man, and S. N. Heaton, proprietor of the Root River stock and dairy farm, petitioned the district court of Houston county to provide for the improvement.

The court, at a preliminary hearing, appointed an engineer to inspect the course of the river and determine whether or not the plan could be worked out. He reported it could, but it would cost the land owners more than $150,000. In some cases the assessment for the work will reach $500 an acre, the engineer reported.

Several hundred farmers have objected to this costly plan. They point out that the flood water on their lands is often back water from the Mississippi and that even if the channel was straightened out their farms would be flooded just the same.

Fred Clarke and George Holzham of La Crosse are among the leaders of the farmers who protested the action.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes any one look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly. FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette Nov. 4, 1875.—We have rumors of a case of "porecussness," wherein a man over on River street got mad at his wife and smashed her head with a carriage and furniture in a most reckless manner. The affair will probably be settled in the police court.

Rev. B. D. Huntley delivers his popular lecture "Understanding," in the Assembly Chamber, at Madison, on Friday evening next.

John Roethinger's place on South Franklin street has been re-fitted and is now in No. 1 running order.

The official canvass of the vote of Rock county at the late election was declared today.

John R. Bennett's majority is 2,164 which is considerably ahead of the ticket.

Ludington has 2,016 majority in his county.

THE COURT HAS SPOKEN

And Usually When It Does Speak It Means Just What It Says.

When the Court Said To Sell Out the

of Janesville, it meant that its order should be obeyed, and it WILL BE. The stock is now being marked down by the MACOMBER SALES COMPANY of Minneapolis, Minn., whom the court has appointed to sell out this immense stock. This sale is a bona-fide one, and the quicker the cash is realized for the estate the better it will suit the court. This must be done, and to do it quickly it means that EVERY piece of hardware in the immense stock---every single item will be cut and slashed. Nothing is misrepresented, nor will it be during this big thirteen day sale starting this next
